Neidig said that this year's winter events saw lower attendance than normal with contributing factors likely being: the wrestling state finals move to Evansville this year, the continuing impact of spring break dates, Easter weekend falling on this year's boys basketball state finals date, as well as a lower number of traditional community-based teams advancing to state.

Name, Image, Likeness (NIL) at the high school level, where it is going, the legal language needed to address it, and how the NCAA's version affects high school sports were discussed.

Artificial Intelligence (AI) was also heavily discussed like it was last year. It is used often in the legal world now to complete briefs, statements and claims.

Transfer rules across the country in different states were covered with some state legislatures dictating high school rules.

M. Feedback from the Membership during Spring Principals Meeting

Some of the topics raised by member school administrators during the recent meetings around the state include:

- One transfer prior to the start of your sophomore year
- One time transfer at any point during high school career

- Classifying individual sports
- Eight semester academic eligibility

N. IHSAA Foundation Impact Awards

IHSAA Foundation Director Trip Lukemeyer detailed the Inaugural IHSAA Impact Awards which will be held Tuesday, May 6 at Gridiron Hall at the Indianapolis Colts Complex.

More than $40,000 in scholarship money will be presented to outstanding senior high school student-athletes and the graduating members of the IHSAA Student Advisory Committee will also be recognized.

First year University of Notre Dame mens basketball coach Micah Shrewsberry will serve as the keynote speaker.

This is the IHSAA's first attempt at hosting an awards dinner to honor and recognize various scholarship recipients after Forte Sports Medicine discontinued its Brady Sports Achievement Awards event. That event for years was when the C. Eugene Cato Memorial Scholarships were presented by the IHSAA to outstanding senior high school student-athletes.
