

Join us for the first-ever IFOA Football Officials Clinic co-sponsored by the NFL Referees Association. The 2009 Clinic will be held on Friday and Saturday, July 10th—11th. This clinic will include classroom sessions on rules and mechanics, position breakout meetings, on-field scrimmage work, and video instruction.

You are invited to join some of the top football officials from around the country for this two-day clinic, including NFL officials Terry Brown, Tim Millis, John McGrath, Steve Stelljes, Michael Banks, Doug Rosenbaum, Lee Dyer, and Mark Baltz.

This clinic is geared for both high school and collegiate officials, striving to improve their mechanics and rules knowledge. The IFOA Clinic will give you the opportunity to interact with NFL staff and officials from around the Midwest. The primary purpose of this clinic is to provide a platform for the improvement of your officiating skills through education, training and mentoring, regardless of your officiating level.

Qualified Indiana high school officials attending the Saturday morning session will be credited for certification attendance.

Membership in the IFOA is $25 for a crew and $10 for an individual and will be available at the clinic.

For more information call Todd Ransom at (765) 483-3400.
