IHSAAtv.org to stream Lawrenceburg-Guerin Catholic on Friday

The IHSAA's internet television portal, IHSAAtv.org returns to action tomorrow evening with the first round of the high school football state tournament.

Part of the IHSAA Champions Network, IHSAAtv.org has aired state championship events and tournament pairings shows in recent years and will now be expanding its broadcast schedule to include regular season, sectional, regional and semi-state football and basketball games.

Friday's first round sectional game featuring Lawrenceburg (7-2) at Guerin Catholic (6-3) will be webcast in high-definition through iHigh.com, the official streaming partner of the IHSAA. Hall of Fame announcer Jerry Baker will be joined by Jan Boser, Jeremiah Johnson, Greg Rakestraw and Mark Jaynes. Veteran Producer Rick Vanderwielen will serve as Executive Producer.

A total of 70 IHSAA broadcasts will stream during the 2014-2015 school year including state championships in football, soccer, volleyball, boys and girls basketball, wrestling, softball and baseball. Coverage of the golf and track and field state championships will also begin next spring.

"I am very pleased that we have expanded our coverage of IHSAA tournament events on our digital platform at IHSAAtv.org," said Commissioner Bobby Cox. "Viewer demand for high school sports continues to increase across our state and throughout the country and we're excited to add quality programming for our patrons."

A schedule of contests to be streamed may be found at IHSAAtv.org or by following @IHSAAtv on Twitter.
