Total	458

B. Contest Officials

Assistant Commissioner Brian Lewis provided updated data on the number of licensed officials by sport and the numbers of renewals by sport for the current school year.

Lewis also shared results and feedback he's received from a host school survey that licensed officials completed for fall sports. The information has been valuable to share with athletic directors, particularly those that are new to their positions.

C. Ejection Report

Assistant Commissioner Janie Ulmer shared the list of ejections since November 1. During that time, there have been 24 ejections (13 student-athletes, 5 coaches, 5 spectators, 1 administrator) (13 in basketball, 9 in wrestling, 2 in football).

D. Sportsmanship Task Force Report

Assistant Commissioner Janie Ulmer and Brian Lewis will be sending out a survey to administrators in the next couple of weeks soliciting feedback on sportsmanship ideas and how to address some of the issues. A sportsmanship task force will then be formed to study and analyze that information and offer recommendations on the approach and a vision for the IHSAA sportsmanship program.

Ulmer also presented the list of exemplary sportsmanship reports received since November 1. Fortunately, it was a much longer list than the list of ejections.

E. Eleven States Meeting

Commissioner Paul Neidig reported on his visit with leaders from other Midwestern state associations on December 4-5, 2023, in Chicago.

Some of the many topics covered included:

- The IHSAA Student Advisory Committee and its Student Leadership Conference were of interest to other states in the process of developing their own.
- Various communications strategies and long-term financial projections.
- Neidig spoke to the IHSAA's new Champion Educator Award which began last winter. The award celebrates educators, including educators in the traditional classroom and the noble profession of teaching. One teacher from each state finalist team is recognized for their ability to connect with their students in a way that leads students to become the best versions of themselves, both inside the classroom and out.

F. Technology

Director of Technology Luke Morehead provided an update regarding recent improvements to the myIHSAA portal, specifically in the areas of digital ticketing, financial reporting, and the Resource Library. Director Morehead noted that the development team is currently implementing suggestions received during the fall member technology survey.

G. Foundation

IHSAA Foundation Director Trip Lukemeyer and Foundation President Chris Kaufman reported on the Foundation's status. The Foundation is committed to providing a positive experience and support for member-schools, student-athletes, officials, and promoting the mission of education-based athletics.

They are conducting a year-end campaign to engage donors and encourage contributions, utilizing social media, email, and letters, while focusing on four pillars identified as needed areas of support:

- Scholarships
- Student Advisory Committee (SAC) Grant
- Leadership Development Resources and Grant
- Officiating 101 Resources and Grants

H. Service to Membership

Associate Commissioner Ed Gilliland, who in his role promotes, advocates, and teaches the philosophy of the IHSAA and education-based athletics, reported on his travels around the state since the beginning of the school year.

He detailed his meetings with school administrators at more than 40 schools, specifically new athletic directors, by meeting them in person or answering questions via phone call or email. He has been a guest at conference meetings and also spoken at an officiating class offered at Chesterton High School.

Gilliland attended the various fall principals' meetings, met with leadership from the Indiana Interscholastic Athletic Administrators Association, and assisted at several state finals events in support.

I. Sports Medicine Advisory Committee (SMAC)

Assistant Commissioner Robert Faulkens reported that the SMAC is requesting feedback from schools on recent changes with respect to Back-to-School and Return-to-Play guidelines.

Faulkens reported the American Academy of Pediatrics has updates and that a new physical evaluation form (PPE) will be made available in January for the 2024-25 school year.

He also relayed that SMAC has expressed concern of the lack of athletic trainers and primary care physicians in certain parts of the state.

J. General Counsel Report

Attorney Katie Williams-Briles updated the Executive Committee on the status of pending litigation against the Association and recent Case Review Panel rulings.
